Dame Vivien Duffield, Chairman of the Clare Duffield Foundation, welcomes Kate Bellamy as the new Director of the Foundation.

Until recently Kate was Director, Museums and Cultural Property at Arts Council England. Previously she led the team that delivered the Mendoza Review of Museums for the DCMS (2016-2017) and was Head of Strategy and Advocacy, V&A (2014-2017). Other roles have included Head of Strategy and Communications, National Museum Directors' Council (2007 – 2010). Kate is a Governor for Ark Soane Academy in Acton and previous non-Executive roles include trustee for Pitzhanger Manor and Gallery.

Dame Vivien Duffield, Chairman of the Clare Duffield Foundation said: “I am absolutely delighted that Kate Bellamy has joined the Clare Duffield Foundation as the new Director. With her help, I hope that the Foundation will be able to continue its work in supporting the cultural sector in general and also embark on an exciting new chapter of projects.”
